ANSWER: Applicants should calculate the percentage of electrical energy of the total energy output as follows. At least 50% of the total energy output of the energy conversion system must be used to produce electrical energy. For example, in the case of a gasification-based system, the total energy output of the gasifier consists of the energy content of the syngas stream plus the energy content of the steam produced in the gasifier. At least 50% of the total energy output of the gasifier must be used to generate electricity.
